Information Sharing Consent

Where rehabilitation has been deemed to be an appropriate method of resolution and you have indicated you wish to take part in such a programme, West Midlands Police may share with partners where necessary, details of your name, address, and contact numbers. Our partner agency, Black Country Women's Aid, will share with West Midlands Police details of outcomes in relation to appointments you have attended. Any sharing of information will be carried out using discretion and sensitivity.

In the case of a conditional caution or community resolution, where you fail to attend appointments without reasonable explanation, this may be recorded as a breach of your outcome method and you may face prosecution for the original offence.

I have read the above information and I give permission for West Midlands Police to share my personal details with partner agencies.
